The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

View From The Oath Bridge

One of the last things the California Supreme Court did before the old year ended was to declare unconstitutional the requirement for public employees to take the loyalty oath.

This action must have added to the confusion of our fighting men in Vietnam and elsewhere.

It unquestionably upset many of those who felt the pendulum would finally swing the other way — that more encouragement would be given to those who believe in the principle of patriotism.

The State Supreme Court voted 6-1 in December to uphold a lower court ruling that invalidated the second paragraph of the oath required of public employees.

The Court ruled on the invalidation "because it bars persons from public employment for a type of association that may not be proscribed consistently with First Amendment rights."

The disputed section requires a prospective employee to declare he is not a member of any organization advocating the overthrow of the U.S. government "by force or violence or other unlawful means."

This means simply that your tax money goes to pay wages to person or persons who find nothing objectionable in belonging to a group that wants to overthrow our government by force.

In a word — Communists.

The U.S. Supreme Court set the machinery in operation for the 6-1 decision (Justice Marshall McComb handed in a 43-page dissent) when it amazingly said "persons who join an organization but do not share its unlawful activities pose no threat either as citizens or as public employees..."

That decision could very well have been written at the Presidium in Moscow without hope that it would become part of the American doctrine — without the use of Soviet force.

But now the oath is unconstitutional!

This ought to increase the growing membership in pink and red societies many times over.

The stigma of belonging to leftist groups has been legally removed!

How can the State Supreme Court speak for you? Did you elect these justices?

Well, yes and no. They get a 12-year appointment but after that there is an election — or so it. The ballot reads "shall Judge Jones, or whomever, be retained?" If enough people said no, the judge could not be re-seated. So the governor would appoint another judge to take his place.

The ballot gives no choice between people. The choice is only to retain him or not. That's not much of an election!

We asked San Diego Municipal Court Judge Luther N. Hussey about the Supreme Court's latest foray into liberalism.

"I can't speak for the State Court, nor for anyone else, but when I am sworn in again I will not only volunteer to take the oath but I shall insist upon it," he said.

We're with you, Judge. We think that we need a brighter approach to the new idea. Perhaps it should encompass a new organization — one of the few we thought would ever be necessary. This one would be the Society of Volunteer Oath Takers, comprising people who would be willing to swear allegiance to this country for whatever undertaking they might embark upon.

To a sizeable number, God and Country have a strong relationship. Without a free country, the workshop of the Supreme Being in the manner we choose may not be possible.

Such admonition makes stronger such utterances which may begin "I pledge allegiance to the flag..."

Air Mail is Up, Down, Both

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien has made federal financing clearer.

Well, clear isn't exactly the word. Understandable might be a better way of expressing it — and even that word needs some clarification. Putting it into its proper context will help.

Let's start with P.M.Gen. Lawrence's present posture. As the result of his long and arduous drive to relieve the deficit of the Post Office Department, he encouraged Congressional watchdogs to permit a drastic increase in postage rates. A penny on first class mail, somewhat similar to California Governor Reagan's penny sales tax increase, isn't much when related to a small purchase. But from a percentage point of view the first class mail rate has been given a whopping 20 per cent increase. That's even faster than the cost of living increases. For the less mathematically minded taxpayer, the increase compares with 25 per cent Reagan imposed sales tax increase.

The bulk mail (junk mail) rate was raised from .02785 to .03600 — and many people say that's a blessing. The only sin, some say, is that the junk rate isn't higher and that a recipient cannot force the sender to reimburse him for the trouble he experiences handling it.

How does this bring about a better understanding of the fiscal workings of the government? Hold on a minute, and we'll make the point.

The very same week that PMG O'Brien invoked his new, higher postage rates, O'Brien implemented his higher rate victory with stamps. He must have printed billions of good-Democrat Roosevelt 6 cent stamps. And certainly he printed billions of 10 cent Air Mail stamps. (up almost 30 per cent).

Missing only was the conversion of Post Office stamp machines to six cents even though some wags infer that another raise is just over the horizon and that by waiting one conversion will be averted.

The same week the new rates went into effect, PMG O'Brien revealed that the ten-centers were so much wasted money. Nearly all first class mail is sent by air, he said. What's more, he proposes to ask Congress to merge all First Class and Air Mail at the First Class rate.

Truckloads of Peanuts Arrive For County CampFire Girls

Peanuts by the truckload group's peanut supply today will be delivered to San Diego County this week — just in time for the 16th annual Camp Fire Girls Peanut Sale. Some 100,000 tri-paks of Camp Fire Girls Peanuts were delivered to the 24 distribution centers in San Diego County Council yesterday. Camp Fire leaders and guardians will check out their group's peanut supply today and by Friday some 6500 happy Camp Fire Girls will be selling the tri-paks of assorted peanuts. The annual sale will be held tomorrow through February 4. Proceeds from the sale provide for capital improvements at the council's three campsites in Cuyamaca Mountains, Poway and Balboa Park; supplement the council's operating budget and add to the individual group treasuries. Past sales have returned some $64,000 back to the many Blue Bird, Camp Fire Girls, Jr. Hi and Horizon Club groups, J. Stacey Sullivan, council chairman explained. Camp Wolohi, the council's resident camp in Cuyamaca, and Camp Valhilo, a primitive campsite near Poway, were made possible through the monies raised from the annual sales, Sullivan explained.

TOUGH OPPOSITION: Three members of the O-La-Ma-Ki Camp Fire Girl group of the La Presa area in Spring Valley who will be out to help their troop dethrone the champion Encanto troop peanut sellers are, left to right, Rhonda Edner, Sharon Le Blanc, and Linda Gomez.

Hewett, Chairman of the Area of Special Education, Neuropsychiatric Institute, UCLA, Center for the Health Sciences in Los Angeles, will present a lecture, film, and discussion on the educationally handicapped youngster Monday afternoon, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Room 23 of the Special Education Facility on the Grossmont High campus. The Grossmont Union High School District is hosting Dr. Hewett for the benefit of educators and other personnel within the San Diego County area. Nicholas S. Mallek, Director of Special Education Services for the district indicated that his presentation will be centered on the educationally handicapped high school youngster, especially of programs for the emotionally disturbed youth, and specifics on the engineered classroom and operant conditioning as developed by Dr. Hewett. As a noted authority in the field of programs for the educationally handicapped youth, Dr. Frank Hewett has written and produced various books, articles, and films with regard to this new and vital area in education. His insights and wisdom, along with his long years of experience have been sought and utilized throughout the nation by both public and private agencies. He has been a consultant for the State of California, Bureau of Special Education, and has appeared as a guest lecturer and consultant in many school districts, colleges and universities and private agencies throughout the State of California and across the nation. His development of materials to demonstrate the use of sequence of educational goals in assessing children with learning problems has been widely utilized in the San Diego County area by districts formulating and operating to this new program in the public schools today.

Svalstad of Spring Valley, president; Richard J. Peterson of El Cajon, vice-president; and William K. Brown of La Mesa, secretary-treasurer.

Faulwetter said these officers would be installed at the annual installation banquet Friday, January 26, at the Top Shelf Restaurant. Jack R. Levitt, president of the San Diego County Bar Association will be the installing officer.

Fire District Replacement Named for Hall

The Lemon Grove Fire District Board of Directors appointed Russell E. Rosenkoetter to fill the four-year, unexpired term of John L. Hall.

Hall, who lives at 1811 El Prado, has not attended a board meeting since mid-October, according to V. J. Dorman, counsel for the District.

Hall's replacement was named after Hall failed to sign the oath of office as required by law. Hall could not be reached for comment. He is said to be out of the community by one source.

Rosenkoetter, of 1667 Watwood rd., is a design engineer with National Steel.

Drill Press Stolen

A drill press was removed from the parking lot of Erreca's Water Truck Service, 301 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley, the weekend of Jan. 6.

Donald Lawrence, foreman, reported to the San Diego County Sheriff's Department that someone had unlocked the fence to the parking area and stolen the drill.

Narcotics Films At Rancho Elem.

Rancho Elementary school of Spring Valley will present a narcotics program at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting tonight in the school cafeteria.

Two films will be presented, including "Drugs and the Nervous System" and "Narcotics, Why Not?" The first film deals with the physical effects drugs have on the body. The second film is a series of actual interviews with drug addicts.

Mr. William Schell, Director of Instructional Material with the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District and a former elementary teacher and principal in the area, will present the films and then lead a discussion with a panel consisting of parents and the school.

Baby-sitting will be provided. Hostesses will be fourth and fifth grade mothers.

Grossmont College To Offer Fitness, Microbiology Class

The Grossmont College Physical Education Department will again offer an evening course in physical fitness for men during the spring semester.

Offered as a community service, the course is aimed at those adult males between the ages of 30 and 60 whose normal occupations deny them the physical activity necessary to good health.

Scheduled to meet from 7 to 10 each Thursday evening, during the spring semester, the popular course will feature such recreational activities as badminton, volleyball, and a choice of individual sports such as weight lifting, flexibility exercises, and running.

"Reconditioning and developing heart and lung fitness will be stressed through recreational activities and flexibility exercises," Coach Bill Gillespie said in describing the course. "There will be no limit on class size and full gymnasium facilities will be provided for all men enrolled in the course." Coach Gillespie concluded.

The deadline for application for this course is January 19. Men interested in this course are urged to apply now to ensure enrollment for the spring semester. The usual placement examination for enrollment will not be required unless additional courses are taken during the spring semester at Grossmont College. Additional information on this course and other spring semester courses at Grossmont College may be obtained by contacting the Admissions Office at the college.

Grossmont College will also offer a course in general microbiology during the spring semester. Aimed at satisfying the needs of those students majoring or interested in nursing, pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, medical technology, veterinary medicine, or other biological science the course should also be of interest to those wishing to fulfill the general education requirement in biological science.

The course will be taught for the first time in a new specially designed laboratory. According to Richard C. Melien, Biology Department instructor, who designed the new laboratory to accommodate the microbiology course, the complex will include a media preparation room as well as the most up to date equipment ordinarily used in bacteriological work.

Students enrolled in the course will use new, high powered binocular microscopes equipped to facilitate precise slide manipulation. During the study of immunology students will have available, a variety of laboratory animals housed in special animal quarters. Several field trips are also planned for the spring semester.

With class size limited to forty, interested students should apply without delay for the four-unit course.

Goodwill Aid Helps Out 346 Handicapped People

During the twelve months of 1967, the San Diego Goodwill Industries has helped 50 handicapped people start a new life for themselves, according to Eugene Morrill, Executive Director of the non-profit community service organization.

Of the handicapped people served, 154 had physical handicaps, 88 were handicapped by mental problems, including retardation, 7 were limited by age or infirmity, 22 had social handicaps, and another 75 were handicapped by other causes — $46 in all.

The Goodwill way offers the handicapped a hand up, not a hand out, Morrill said. Vocational rehabilitation services provide for evaluation, training, adjustment, testing, learning of skills and work experience which enable the clients to hold jobs either in the Goodwill workshops or in normal commerce and industry.

Goodwill put the handicapped to work repairing and renovating items donated by citizens of San Diego county. These refurbished articles are then resold at modest prices in Goodwill's outlet stores.

Over 28,000 families were estimated to have contributed materials in 1967, the executive reported. Materials were received through 160 Goodwill deposit boxes in the area and through approximately 67,000 calls at homes.

Church Services Just For Kids

Two Sundays ago, the First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove offered a new service to its members, and to the community, when they began a Junior Church. Children, ages 4 through 11, attend a worship service apart from the adults, during the regular morning worship hour, beginning at 10:50.

Mike Yaconelli, Minister of Youth, brings a Bible message to the children, preceded by a song service, both geared to their level of understanding and learning. Smaller children are taken into classrooms for stories and crafts. A staff of 20 adults works with the children each Sunday. The first Sunday 102 children attended.

Rev. Robert E. Kleinschmidt is pastor of the church located at 2910 Main Street.

Atonement Lutheran Church of Spring Valley to Show Berkeley Production

"Berkeley—A New Kind of Revolution," a Campus Crusade for Christ International movie depicting "Spiritual Revolution" as the answer to the unrest and revolution on college campuses today, will be viewed in an open-to-the-public showing at 7 p.m. Sunday at Atonement Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, 3345 Sweetwater Springs Blvd., Spring Valley. The showing is part of a coming county-wide Missouri Synod Lutheran Lay Institute For Evangelism scheduled for February 18-24 or May 5-11.

On college campuses across America, revolution is the order of the day. Recently 600 students and alumni from campuses across this nation and from three other countries met together in Berkeley, California, not to protest, but to proclaim an answer—"Spiritual Revolution."

They proclaimed Jesus Christ as the answer to the needs of men in each segment of the campus life—radical, "Greek," international, athlete, professor. The movie is a testimony to the enthusiastic response, as the Person of Christ was presented in a simple, clear and intelligent way.

Lay men, women and youth who participate in the institute from the 26 Missouri Synod Lutheran churches in the county will learn in the same easy way how to share their faith in Christ in their own daily sphere of influence. To date 13 of the 26 congregations have indicated a minimum enrollment of up to 160 Lait.

The Reverend Norman A. Schneider of Atonement church, local coordinator for the endeavor, said confidently, "With proper publicity for this great event, we should see 300 or more of our people taking this training. Our county churches are ripe for such an institute, and our people want training that will help them in a simple way to share their faith in Christ with those who do not know Him."

"Fortunately, for us, God has sent our way a Missouri Synod couple who are on the staff of Campus Crusade for Christ, Arrowhead Springs, San Bernardino, whose materials we will utilize, and whom we hope to have conduct this institute. They are Bob and Linda Skulte, graduates of our university in Valparaiso, Indiana, who want to serve Lutherans in this important work which is so needed in the Church today."

"We invite all Lutheran pastors, lay leaders, women's and youth leaders, and the general public, to see this movie and to be informed of the coming Institute."

MAIL BAG

I have been operating under the naive impression that colleges were for education and that any speaker invited to speak to the students was one who would elevate their education. Is San Diego State so short of speakers, or is it in the name of academic freedom that they must scrape the bottom of the barrel and invite Adam Clayton Powell to speak. Mr. Powell cannot even represent his people in the House of Representatives and he cannot even enter the State of New York because of a criminal contempt charge. Please tell me is this an example of outstanding, worthwhile, patriotic American speakers worthy of exposure to our youth.

Manual Labor Propels Monarch Freshman Towards College Goal

By Ron Werning

If you want a teenager to do something, probably the best way is to tell her you don't think she can — especially if she's a spunky 14-year-old girl like Sally Promey, a ninth grader at Monte Vista.

Perhaps Sally's dad, George Promey, 10707 Jamacha blvd., was using this reverse psychology last spring when he told her she wouldn't be able to earn $100 college expense money during the summer.

As a result, of course, she made $200. And she earned it doing manual labor.

Sally is a diminutive 82-pound freshman who might need a stretchy tape measure to reach the 5' 1" she claims.

"It started about a month before I finished eighth grade when the discussion of college expenses came up," Sally said. "I told my father I could make some money over the summer, but he doubted I could. So I set a goal of $100 and began painting fences, washing cars, and doing house and garden work."

Sally's first goal of $100 was surpassed within a month. Starting as early as 6 a.m., she worked up to nine hours a day, waxing and washing cars and mowing lawns. She was most skilled, though, at painting fences.

At Sweetwater Trailer Park, where she lives, each mobile home has a fence around it. "I painted 30 fences over the summer and sometimes people would give up to $5 a fence," she said. Soon she became a popular employee and work orders increased until she had to get a crew together to help do the jobs. Not all of her jobs were pleasant. "The one I hated most," she said, "was cleaning and weeding a neighbor's yard that was full of snail bait."

She liked to babysit the most and didn't mind housework. "But I like working outdoors better than indoors," she said.

To Sally, painting fences was boring but all she had to do was think about the money she was going to make, and she kept going.

Part way through the summer she raised her goal to $200. And she had reached it when she left on a vacation trip in August. She arranged with some friends to handle the business while she was gone.

Sally, a friendly girl with a cheerful smile, was well-liked by her clients. A former employer, Mrs. Beulah Bordwell, calls her "a wonderful worker and a wonderful girl."

Sally is an "A" student and an honor graduate of Spring Valley Junior High School. An Ohio native, she plans to study botany at an Ohio college. She likes to read, hike, and collect wild flowers. She also likes animals.

As for next summer, "I will probably do the same thing again," Sally said.

The past three summer seasons have been presented in the Convention Center and Civic Theatre. Prior to that, concerts were held in the outdoor Balboa Bowl although jet traffic forced the symphony to leave that location.

The San Diego Symphony Orchestra will present next summer's season of concerts in the amphitheatre at San Diego State College, it was announced.

A decision to move to the college campus was made at a meeting of the Orchestra's Executive Committee, according to Michael Ibs Gonzales, Symphony Association President.

to spend a dime for the same service he gets for six cents? How does raising Air Mail rate 30 per cent and cutting the price 40 per cent reduce the deficit?

Probably the same way the President does it in his battle against inflation: LBJ asks Americans to quit spending it abroad and submit to higher taxes to sap off the money saved and avert inflation. He also asks for more money for foreign aid and domestic assistance programs.

A guy can't understand LBJ's programs unless he studies PMG O'Brien's fiscal policies.

Lay 'em out side by side! See the similarity? Understand O'Brien and you understand LBJ, it might be said.

And since the Postmaster General's policy is described here, it would take a dullard not to begin to see the Federal program picture.

Any idiot can see that.

Helix Girls Learn Fundamental Skills in Office Practice Class

Working in a business office is interesting and challenging work, according to the 13 Helix High School girls in Miss Mary Garcia's office practice class.

All the girls have had classes in the fundamental secretarial skills, and are now learning more about office work.

"We teach the girls the set up of different types of offices in order to help them more fully understand the function of an office," Miss Garcia said.

The girls studied the ways that psychology of color, flow of traffic, and placement of furniture can offset office set up.

The girls were then assigned to coordinate an office layout completely on their own. They drew up the floor plans, lighting arrangements, and other details of an office.

Working together, several girls constructed scaled models of their plans. Many of the models were designed after local business houses which the girls had visited.

The models are now on display in the Helix Business Education Building.

are cooperating in the program. Students apply directly to these newspapers, which, in turn, make their own selections of summer interns.

"We are seeking men between 21 and 31 who want a career with a purpose. Any of our officers will be glad to talk with such fellows about the job of a highway patrolman and we invite them to come into our office any time we are open. We also have information about the examination, including application forms, for their convenience."

In addition to the age factor, applicants must be in good health, have a high school diploma or its equivalent, be at least five feet nine inches tall, but not more than six feet six inches, and meet other requirements.

School District Planner Seeking Additional Machines for Completion of Data Systems

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District may eventually record all its operational information on an IBM card. This is the hope of James C. Schmidt, Data Processing Planner for the district.

The district, which possesses a key puncher machine and a card sorting machine at present will take action in the coming months on proposals by Schmidt for the acquisition of four other IBM system machines, with the addition of these machines completing a set.

Increased use of data processing services is being made this year by the district, with Schmidt working with divisions and departments in developing improved procedures, with some projects already completed.

Among the jobs completed by the new machines and Schmidt are a systems analysis of many operations of the various divisions. Personnel computer cards have been punched and are available for retrieval of data. Included are X-ray expiration dates, employee assignments, and other data.

Other projects planned or currently underway are a property accounting inventory, vacation and sick leave data, budget accounting and stores inventory.

"Our next goal is a Property Equipment Inventory Control System," stated Schmidt. "We want to put all the equipment in the district on cards and have the information readily available."

"When I came to the district, the IBM sorting machine and a key puncher were already here, but were not being used," explained Schmidt, former supervisor of Copley Press headquarters in La Jolla.

"With the assistance of Mrs. Margaret Williams, a member of the secretarial pool, the key punch machine is now being used, and Schmidt is working the card sorting machine."

"For the operation to be completely effective, we need the four other components of the IBM system," stated Schmidt. "These four are the basic components of the Data Processing system."

The first of the four other components of the system is the Reproducing Punch No. 514 or gangpunching machine. Gangpunching is the automatic copying of punched information from a master card into one or more detail cards that follow it.

At a rate of 100 cards per minute, gangpunching can be performed separately or in combination with reproducing and summary punching for both alphabetical and numeric information.

Reproducing with the 514 is like copying from one record to another. Information from one set of punched cards is automatically punched into another set of cards. The two sets of cards are fed through the machine at the same time.

The second machine in the system is the No. 548 Alphabetic Interpreter. Interpreting is the translating of punched holes into oriented information on an IBM card.

Interpreting is advantageous when punched cards are used as documents on which additional information is written or marked, or wherever reference to filing operations is involved.

The third machine is the No. 085 Collator, which matches and merges two decks of cards at a rate of 240 per minute. Merging is the combining of two sets of cards into one set of given sequence. Both files of cards must be in the same sequence before they are to be merged. Matching is a checking function used to check the agreement between two sets of cards.

New Office Hours For Vehicle Dept.

Motorists planning to renew their vehicle registrations for 1968 are advised of a change in department of motor vehicles' schedule of office hours.

In 1968, regular permanent offices of the department will be open two Saturday mornings during the statutory renewal period. The half days scheduled are 8 to noon on Saturdays, January 27 and February 3, according to Ronald V. Thunen, field office chief for the department.

The final day for renewal of registration without penalty under state law is Monday, February 5.

Groups of cards in one file are compared with similar groups in a second file. Unmatched cards of groups of cards in either file may be selected or separated from the files.

The IBM Accounting Machine, No. 402, completes the basic components of the data processing system. This machine specializes in detail printing, which is the printing of information from each card as the card passes through the machine. The function is used to prepare reports that show complete detail about each transaction. The accounting machine adds and subtracts information on the punched cards.

Many people who are not familiar with the data processing system may be skeptical as to what a punched hole can do. According to a beginners manual in data processing the actions of a punched hole are many.

The punched hole will add itself to something else. It will also subtract and multiply and divide itself with something else. It can list, reproduce, classify, select, print, file, and post itself. Its abilities are endless.

"Through data processing we can put all the information about the district immediately in the hands of school officials," stated Schmidt. "This will aid the officials in making many management decisions which they face."

"Eventually every bit of information pertinent to the district will be on a punched card," predicted Schmidt.

Clothing Stolen In Car Vandalism

Monroe Somerset of Indiana, visiting with his parents at 1600 Larwood, Lemon Grove, reported the vandalism of men's and women's clothing from the back seat of his car last week.

The convertible top of the car, which was parked in front of the Larwood address, had been ripped open, and the suspect, apparently unlocked the car door.

Clothing and other items valued at $824 were removed from the vehicle during the night.

The 1966 Plymouth contained the couple's clothing, much of which was removed and a camera taken from an unlocked glove compartment.

MAN AND MACHINE: James C. Schmidt, Data Processing Planner for the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, feeds IBM cards into card sorting machine at the district headquarters in La Mesa.

Schmidt has sent in a recommendation for the addition for four other IBM machines to the district, with the five machines and a key-puncher forming the basic components of the Data Processing System.

La Presa Town Council Opens Year With Tax Override Issue Session

The La Presa Town Council has invited the members of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School Board to their general meeting Monday. Superintendent Glen Murdock will be the speaker; with the main topic under discussion to be the pros and cons of the coming five year tax override.

This is of vital interest to all of the taxpayers in this school district and the Town Council urges them to attend the Monday meeting at the Kempton Elementary School, 740 Kempton, at 7:30 p.m.

The La Presa Town Council was reorganized in January and February of 1967 at the request of the citizens of the area because of the high property taxes and the need for an organization where they could meet with the elected officials of the different taxing agencies for question and answer sessions. It was felt that a closer communication would bring a better understanding of the problems faced by the areas taxpayers.

March 13th highlights of the year for the council included: Supervisor Henry Boney was guest speaker with questions from the floor of general interest to the area.

April saw Mr. Eugene Haden, Vice President of the Town Council named to the Otay-La Presa Water Board. May 1st, the La Presa Water Board was organized to meet with Town Council members at a general meeting.

May 29th, Mr. Robert Deht, who later became Supervisor for this area, attended a general meeting with men from the Park and Recreation Dept., the State Division of Highways, the Sr. Engineer of the Flood Control Division, and the Sanitation Director and the Assistant Director of the County Dept. of Special Districts.

June 26th, Mr. Minnex, County Tax assessor answered questions from the floor and Mr. Leppert from the San Diego Taxpayers Association spoke and commended the Town Council for its efforts in holding the line on government expenditures and the sending of letters and petitions to all taxing agencies. June through September kept Town Council members busy with Board of Supervisor meetings and Park and Recreation meetings, gathering facts regarding the purchase of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce Building which was located outside of the present Park and Recreation District, with the districts funds. Because of Town Council efforts, this was stopped.

October's meeting was with Mr. Ruehle, the National City Port Commissioner, who gave the Council members some interesting information on Highway 94 with regards to the La Presa areas expected growth.

October also saw a much needed and appreciated reduction in both the local water tax rate and in the park and recreation tax.

Heart Breakthroughs Result of Research

New breakthroughs in the treatment of ailing hearts are not miracles, but rather the result of years of research, according to Steve Oberg, Heart Association Memorial Committee chairman.

"This now evident value is encouraging county residents to make Heart Memorial Gifts in tribute to friends or family members who have lost their lives or been crippled by heart disease," he said.

"We are heartened by the fact that by paying respect to the dead with a Heart Memorial Gift, we offer hope to the living that scientists will find preventions and cures. All Heart Memorial Gifts are allocated to research."

Oberg said county residents gave Memorial Gifts in December totaling $3,714.66 and honoring 232 persons.

The person remembered in the Lemon Grove area was Mrs. Elizabeth Monahan, 2211 Massachusetts.

MODEL SCHOOL: Above is a model of the La Presa Junior High School campus, on which construction will start in the middle of the summer. Sixty per cent of the above campus will be built during Phase 1 of the project. In the first phase of construction, the physical education, language arts, and practical arts buildings will be completed.

Phase 1 Started

Construction Begins in Midsummer On La Presa Junior High Facilities

La Presa Junior High School, a modern educational facility for seventh and eighth grade students, will be built at Lealand and Jamacha rd. in Spring Valley. Construction is expected to begin in midsummer.

Dr. Dale Hobson, assistant business superintendent of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District said the plant will be built in two phases. When phase one is completed the school will house 700 students.

Junior high school students in the South Spring Valley attendance area are now bussed to La Mesa, Parkway and Spring Valley Junior High Schools.

Although building plans were prepared in 1966, start of construction was delayed until now, because the District did not have the necessary building eligibility available under the State Building Program. Anticipated eligibility did not materialize because of a decline in population growth rate and a slow-down in dwelling construction.

The La Presa Junior High building plan reflects many architectural innovations and conforms to new educational needs. Dr. Hobson said the plans were prepared after consultation with junior high staff members, a study of present junior high facilities, and inspection of new junior high school buildings in other districts.

Basically, the complete plant consists of five buildings. They are: language arts, science, mathematics, practical arts, audio arts (music, speech and drama), and the physical education building. The administrative, counseling, health, and library facilities are part of the language arts building. Several small remedial rooms are also included.

Initial construction will include the physical education, superintendent, business, of arts buildings. Until the entire facility is completed, some language arts rooms will be modified for the teaching of mathematics, science, and the audio arts.

On November 20 the Board of Education authorized Robert E. Des Lauriers, architect, to update the building plans, Hobson said. Because the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District is in the State Building Program, all local school building construction must conform to the regulations and requirements of the State Department of Education and the State Allocation Board.

When the last phase is completed, the new La Presa Junior High School will house approximately 1,100 students in grades 7 and 8 and will also serve as a community center.

City Clash Last Night

Grossmont Cagers Hold Off Southwestern; Palomar Next

Grossmont and San Diego City clashed last night for the Pacific Southwest Conference basketball lead, but win or lose, the Griffins must be considered the class of the junior college circuit.

Coach Bill Gillespie's quintet entered the San Diego City showdown with a perfect 3-0 circuit record, and the winningest team in the conference in overall season play.

The latest success for the Griffin roundballers came last Saturday night, as the Grossmont squad stalled a late rally by a game Southwestern team to defeat the host Apaches, 86-78.

The three leading scorers in the Griffin attack continued their blistering point-producing pace Saturday night, as 6-8 center Doug Boyd and flashy guard Lynn Lowder each recorded 28-point performances. The third member of the trio, forward John Ugrin, chipped in with 17 markers for the winners.

Grossmont opened the contest as if it planned on turning the game into a rout, as the Griffins dominated the early going to force a 19-point lead, 30-11.

Both teams suffered from cold shooting hands at the beginning with neither squad collecting on a field goal in the first three minutes plus.

The Griffins built up the huge lead midway through the first half, as Lowder accounted for 11 points in the early going, connecting mostly on the fast break. Boyd and Ugrin each had four points in the early going and guard Richard Mates added six more.

Southwestern, suffering from a distinct height disadvantage at every position, narrowed the first half Griffin lead to 12 points, 38-26, behind the blistering shooting of forward John DeVore.

Only a six-footer, DeVore was forced to man a forward slot, and drew bulky Ugrin as his assignment. Ugrin, a former Helix High great, stands 6-5, and sports a double-figure average. DeVore paced the Apaches in the scoring column with 25 points.

Two baskets by Lowder near the end of the first half, shot the Griffins back out to a comfortable lead, 48-34 at intermission. Lowder tallied 19 of his 28 points in the first half, while Boyd had 12 and Ugrin nine in the first 20 minutes. Meanwhile, DeVore kept the Apaches in the game with a 13-point opening stanza.

The two rivals battled on even terms most of the second half, with Southwestern cutting the Grossmont advantage to just eight points, 74-66 with over four minutes remaining in the conference battle.

But the Griffins put on a short rally of their own, as Boyd tallied on a tip shot and Lowder added a bucket to shoot Grossmont back on top by 14 points, 80-66, with three and a half minutes remaining.

Southwestern made another bid for an upset, as a steal by Forrest Parth and basket trimmed the Grossmont lead to 10, 80-70, and a DeVore jump shot narrowed the gap to eight with two minutes left. But the quick Southwestern standstill missed a medium-range jumper seconds later and the Griffins stalled for the victory.

Grossmont's next basketball encounter will be next Wednesday at 8 p. m. on the Griffin court. In that conference clash, Palomar will provide the opposition.

Miguel, Santana Battle Tomorrow Night at 8:30

Mt. Miguel and Santana, two of the top teams in the early going of the Grossmont League, square off tomorrow night at 8:30 p. m. in the Sultan gym.

The league-leading Matadors played Tuesday evening against El Cajon, with the Braves winless going into the circuit clash.

Mt. Miguel's latest victory came at the expense of usually high-scoring El Capitan last Friday evening in the Matador gym. The Miguel defense stymied the Vaqueros, limiting the visitors to just 12 points in the first half and eventually dealt El Cap a 75-36 defeat.

Coach Dick Ridgway will probably go with his veteran line-up against the Sultans tomorrow night, with Ken Barstow at center, flanked by high-scoring Mike Ela and fine rebounder Dave Lower at the forwards. Manning the backcourt positions for the Matadors will be hard-driving guard Ken Greenman and left-handed sharpshooter Blake Mathews. Ela, Greenman, and Mathews all sport double-figure averages over the entire season, with Ela's 20-point plus mark pacing the Mt. Miguel scoring attack and making him the fifth top scorer in San Diego County prep basketball this season.

Mt. Miguel placed four of their five starters in double figures against the El Capitan quintet, with Ela pacing the scoring with a 19-point evening. He was ably assisted in that department by Barstow, Greenman, and Mathews, who recorded 13, 12 and 10 points respectively.

Building up a 21-5 advantage after the first eight minutes, the Matadors increased their edge to 37-12 at half-time, outscoring the Vaqueros 16-7 in the second stanza. Utilizing a number of subs in the second half, the Matadors added 19-point third and fourth quarters to their total. In all, ten Matadors saw action and scored in the one-sided contest.

Randy Neilson provided most of the opposition with a 19-point performance for El Cap.

'Careers Night' On Schedule For L.G. PTA Group

Tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium, the Lemon Grove Junior High School PTA will present its second "Careers Night." Following a brief business meeting, several people representing various areas of community service and business, will make presentations to acquaint students with educational requirements necessary for a career in their particular field. The program will especially interest 8th graders and their parents, but 7th graders are also invited said Mrs. S. C. Brumbaugh, Jr., PTA president. Each student will be allowed to attend two sessions, and ask questions about each profession.

Present will be a nurse, laboratory technician (representing the medical field), a teacher, law enforcement officer, airlines stewardess and pilot, a banker, telephone company representative, and a professional sports star.

Refreshments will be served by room mothers of 8-5 and 8-6 in the auditorium after the 8:30 session.

Also present at the meeting will be a representative of the Lemon Grove School District to explain the February 6th tax continuation election. The Executive Board of the Lemon Grove Jr. High PTA voted to support and endorse the tax election, with many board members volunteering to contact voters, said Mrs. W. C. Smith Legislation Chairman.

Helix, MV Clash With Ball, Fists

Helix and Monte Vista clashed in the basketball fray last Friday night, and the two squads also held a pair of boxing scuffles on the side in their Grossmont league tussle.

The boxing matches ended in a draw, but the Highlanders won what counted by dealing the visiting Monarchs a close, 68-65, basketball loss.

The unbeaten Highlanders, scheduled to play El Capitan Tuesday evening, built up a commanding 14-point lead early in the third period, but had to fight off a determined Monte Vista bid in the final stanza to whip their Spring Valley rivals.

The Monarchs were suffering their second straight league defeat in the game, with the Monte Vista five scheduled to play last Tuesday night at Grossmont.

Helix continues its bid to remain undefeated and even with Mt. Miguel in the Grossmont League title chase tomorrow night at 8:30 p. m. as the Highlanders play host to winless El Cajon.

Meanwhile, Monte Vista will be seeking to get back in the circuit race, as they travel to El Capitan for an 8:30 p. m. encounter with the Vaqueros.

It was an erratic battle between the Highlanders and Monarchs the entire contest, with Monte Vista busting out in the initial period as if they planned on routing the highly-regarded Helix five. The La Mesa quintet found itself trailing 19-6 after eight minutes, but bounced back in the second stanza to outpoint the visitors, 24-15 to narrow the margin at halftime to just four points, 34-30.

Helix came out after intermission to run away with a big third quarter spurge, as Paul Drozd paced Helix to a 26-point period and the Highlander defense limited Monte Vista to a mere seven points.

But the Monarchs put on another rally in the closing eight minutes, doubling the Helix output of 12 points in the quarter. A full court press paced the Monarch rally, but the visitors could never get any closer than three points.

Drozd led the winners in scoring with 19 points, while Bob Kellison and Bruce Walton added 13 points each for the Highlanders.

Game scoring honors belonged to Monte Vista's Jim Westcott with 21, while three other Monarchs hit in double figures, including Roger Landis with 13, Gary Gregson with 12, and Larry Jones with 11.

The fun clubbers will meet at the Heartland Y building, 8881 Dallas, La Mesa. Cost of the event is $6 for the eight Saturdays plus $3 for the two trips.

For more information call the 'Y' at 466-4161.

DEFENSE IS THE KEY: The two photos here are a good indication of why Grossmont College's basketball team is currently dominating the Pacific Southwest Conference and just about every other opponent so far this season. In the top photo, Grossmont's front-line men John Ugrin (41) and Doug Boyd (45) get up high above their Southwestern opponents to haul down this rebound. Watching helplessly are Apache's Dave Bower (50) and Louie Wooten (54). In the bottom photo, Ugrin is again the defensive stand-out, as he stretches to block a shot by an unidentified Apache. Boyd is in the background behind Ugrin, while guard Lynn Lowder (33) watches. Action took place last Saturday night as the Griffins held off a Southwestern rally to down the Apaches, 86-78.

Local High School, Junior College Tracksters Scheduled to Compete in San Diego Indoor Games

Four junior events involving the finest high school track talent in San Diego County, plus an invitational shot miler, have been added to the program for the second annual San Diego Indoor Games.

The Saturday evening, Feb. 3 meet at San Diego's Sports Arena will spotlight the world-class spike stars. But the preps provide a colorful backup.

The invader is stellar miler Robert Yslas of Madera High in Central California. He reportedly is one of the great prep mile prospects in the nation.

Yslas will have to contend with Tom Davidson, El Cajon; John Jacobsen, San Diego; Steve Becker, Kearny; Dave Carter, Monte Vista; Doug Tucker, Vista; and John Rios, El Cajon.

The best prep sprinters were named for the junior 60. They are Barry Allen and Robert Lofton of San Diego, John Phillips and James Talbot of Hoover, Dennis Williams of Kearny and Clarence Warren, Lincoln.

The junior 600 will bring together Stan Stolpe, Coronado; David Orr, Pt. Loma; Albert Fennell, Lincoln; Ron Figueroa, Vista; and Morgan Hodge, Mount Miguel.

Four relay teams will compete in a 640-yard sprint relay, with each man running one lap of the new red and blue San Diego banked boards.

Teams will represent the Valley (Grossmont and El Cajon areas) Allen Stevenson, Larry Gilliland, Bruce Ruff and Randy Hennum; San Diego East (Barry Allen, Melvin Maxwell, John Phillips and Robert Lofton; County (Randy McNabb, Gary Hargrave, Larry Crayton and Eddie Johnson; and San Diego West (Mike Dixon, Ed Zajonc, Ed Cushman and Dennis Williams).

Seven crack junior college milers have been named for the jaycee mile event at the second annual San Diego Indoor Games.

The milers are led by Rick Fox, Palomar College. Fox placed third in the 1967 California JC Championships and had a 1967 best of 4:10.9.

An invader in the mile is Scott Chisam of Pasadena, who finished sixth in that meet and has a best four-lap clocking of 4:10.9.

Other entrants will be Randy Hartman, Palomar; Larry Marshall and Keith Jeffers, San Diego City College; Jerry Edelbrock and Chuck Winsor of Grossmont.

There will also be a jaycee mile relay. The featured team is Meet Director Dick Cox's San Diego Mesa foursome which last year set a new national jaycee indoor mile record of 3:20.9. The only man returning from that team is anchorman Wesley Williams, who won the State intermediate hurdles crown.

San Diego mesa will have James King, John Roberts and Clark Diamond running ahead of Williams.

San Diego City College has entered Mike Johnson, Nate King, Chuck Gipp and Orvin R.omo. Southwestern from Chula Vista will have Felix Ugale, Fred Hartson, Rick Johnston and Mike Miller on its combine. Chaffey is bringing down a strong team to round out the race.

DOMINATION: Grossmont's distinct height advantage over Southwestern Saturday night was put to good use on this play, as three tall Griffins hit the backboards to aid in this rebound. In the center bringing down the ball is Al Ursillo (25), while aiding in the theft are Doug Boyd at left and John Ugrin, at right. Grossmont won the contest.

Another American Record-holder Accepts San Diego Games Invite

Tom vonRuden, who set an American record of 2:06.8 for the 1000 yards, has signed to do an encore at the second annual San Diego Indoor Games.

One of the big indoor tests leading up to the Olympic Games in Mexico City, the meet is set for Saturday night, Feb. 3, at the beautiful San Diego Sports Arena.

Von Ruden feels that now that he's captured the American indoor record for the 1000, his next goal is Peter Snell's world mark of 2:06.0. "I think that record is one of the most vulnerable on the book," the former Oklahoma State great stated.

Tom's words were echoed by Preston Davis, the National AAU 1000 champion who also will be in the race, Davis and vonRuden are both part of the U. S. Army team now training at Ft. MacArthur in San Pedro.

In last year's San Diego meet, vonRuden took off like a sprinter from the gun and simply ran all his rivals into the boards, winning by 50 yards. He thinks he could have nailed Snell's record that evening if there had been some resemblance of competition.

San Diego's brand new board track has been completed and awaits shipping here for the San Diego Indoor Games.

The track has been built in Albuquerque by the same organization which designed and built board tracks for Albuquerque and Ft. Worth. It now will be loaded on two huge trailer trucks and shipped here in plenty of time to be assembled prior to the meet.

General Manager Les Land of the Sports Arena reports he made a search of nearly every indoor facility in the nation before deciding the best and fastest course was the one in Albuquerque.

Surfers Booked For '69 Season

SAN DIEGO — The top surfing event in the United States will be held here next year as part of the city's bi-centennial celebration. The 1969 International Surfing Championships are slated for July according to Chuck Mason, local vice president of the Western Surfing Association, with the official sanctioning organization of the event in affiliation with the United States Surfing Association.

Confirming the San Diego site, Mason indicated that it is possible that the preliminaries will be held at a number of local beaches leading up to the two-day finals which will take place in the Pacific Beach area.

"This will be the premiere surfing attraction in the United States during 1969," Mason said, "and we intend to make it truly international in keeping with the city's 200th birthday celebration. We are confident we will have entries from every surfing country in the world, and that it will be even larger than the world championships held here last year."

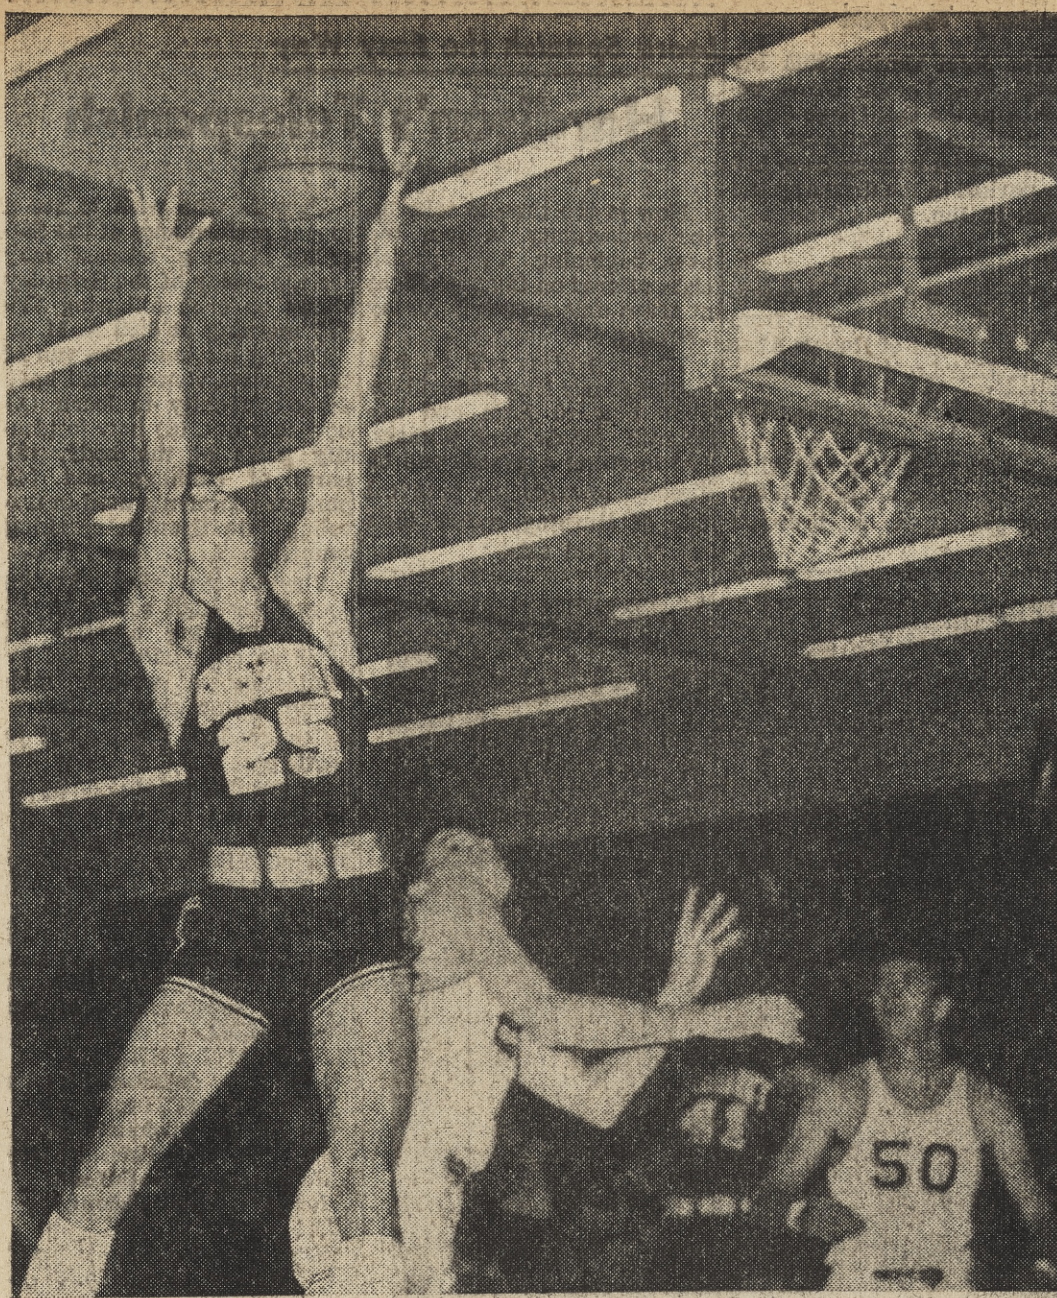

All-Star Football Movie Available

The 1967 All-American football team, as selected by the more than 500 college coaches who make up the American Football Coaches Association, can now be seen in a dramatic 28 minute full color movie.

John Twiss, Regional Manager for Allstate Insurance Company announced that as a public service the Allstate sponsored film will be made available to local community organizations through Allstate Offices.

The 1967 All-America team includes such football greats as quarterback Gary Beban of U.C.L.A. and halfback O. J. Simpson of U.S.C. A total of 24 national collegiate stars are highlighted in the film.

Currently on view at the gallery, is an exhibition of woodwork prints by the Japanese artist, Kwatei Taki. The exhibit ends Feb. 25.

Neophonic Sound Concert to Benefit Music Lovers, Monte Vista Program

The Monte Vista High Band Parents Club will present Stan Kenton and the Collegiate Neophonic Orchestra in concert next Friday night, Jan. 26, in the Civic Center.

The event will be a double non-profit venture. The consideration received by the Neophonic will go toward their scholarship fund and the rest of the proceeds from the sale of tickets after expenses will go for Monte Vista Band uniforms.

Neophonic means "New Sound," and this New Sound is the greatest innovator in modern American Music. The Neophonic Orchestra sound was originally coined by Stan Kenton and a group of associates in an effort to describe this large concert ensemble with a jazz foundation.

The Neophonic Orchestra is really a standard large dance band with the addition of french horns, a tuba, percussionists, and double reeds. The story of the Neophonic is not just in the instrumentation, but in the dramatic adaptation of traditional concert forms such as the concerto, suite, fugue and sonata-allegro form to modern, jazz-oriented rhythms and melodies. This ensemble possesses the vibrancy, excitement and wide range of expression needed to capture our contemporary society in sound.

The Neophonic features some of the finest contemporary writers in the world of sound: Hugo Montenegro, Johnny Richards, Jim Knight, Allyn Ferguson and "The dean of modern Jazz arrangers" Gil Fuller. These composers for the Neophonic are bringing new sounds to the listener through the media of the young jazz performers, which represents the finest college-age talent in the Southland today.

The primary purposes of the Neophonic is to develop and maintain a scholarship fund to further the members college and professional education and to bring together the finest young talent available.

Stan Kenton was first approached by Jack Wheaton of Cerritos College, who is now director of the Neophonic, about sponsoring a group of college-age musicians to play music along the same lines as the Neophonic. Stan Kenton, reluctant at first, consented to Jack Wheaton's authorization to use his name.

Jack Wheaton and his associate Paul Colaluca, wrote to educators at colleges all over the Southern California area asking them to send their most promising players to Cerritos to audition. The quantity and quality of the respondents was incredible and the Collegiate Neophonic was formed.

In 1965 and 1966 the Collegiate Neophonic opened with a concert at UCLA and Cerritos College with guest stars: Stan Kenton, Lennis Neihaus, Dick Nash, George Roberts and Bud Brisbois. Their first album was also released by Century Records.

In the fall of 1966 the Collegiate Neophonic made a command performance for the Southern California Band and Orchestra Directors Association.

Now in its third year the conception of the Collegiate Neophonic is a vivacious reality, which is becoming a well-known orchestra in the Southland. In February the Collegiate Neophonic second album will be released. In March they will travel to Seattle, Washington, to perform for the Music Educators National Convention.

Many of the members are now performing and have performed for such orchestras as: Woody Herman, Buddy Rich, Les Brown, Harry James, Paramount Studios, Disneyland Studios.

Stan Kenton has strong feelings about the college music scene. Measuring his words in characteristic Kentonian understatement, he says: "There's a revolution going on in music today that is the most extraordinary thing I've ever seen in my life. Young players are so superior, play so fantastically well, that a kid today in five years can play better than his father could after 20."

"But I'm not putting music in the same class with literature and drama. It's more than art. There is something to be gained from music that you can't get from anything else other than a strong faith in a religion. It's vital part of people's emotional growth; it helps them to accept the progress in the new world around them."

Stan Kenton hastened to point out that college bands can now create their own music. "They're no longer playing old Basie or Herman or Kenton arrangements; they have their own writers and their own individuality."

NOISEMAKERS: One of the integral parts of the neophonic sound is the trumpet section, and Stan Kenton's Collegiate Orchestra has one of the finest in the nation. His group will be performing in concert Friday night, Jan. 26, in the

Harlem Globetrotters Here For SDX Benefit

SAN DIEGO — Basketball fans, you have a date for January 26.

It will be at the San Diego Sports Arena and will be the famous Harlem Globetrotters. The time is 8 p.m.

The magicians of the court will take on the Washington Generals in a furious contest of baskets, buffoonery and tomfoolery.

But that's only half the story. The game will be supported by a special array of entertainment personalities the Globetrotters are bringing for pre-game and half-time presentation.

That will include a table tennis exhibition, tightrope juggling and a plate-spinning routine that seemingly defies gravity.

Meadowlark Lemon, the Trotters' perennial prankster, will head up the basketball performance. He'll be supported by some of the best basketball players in the nation who can make a basketball sing, roll over, disappear, play dead, clown — or drop through the basket.

They are all stars from high school and college and have added a repertoire of comedy routines since joining the Trotters.

The Generals will be under the capable leadership of Louis (Red) Klotz, former Villanova University star and the oldest active pro cager in the game today. Although the Generals' record isn't too impressive, they always keep the Trotters on their toes and pushing to score another victory. One of these nights, the Generals just might beat the Globetrotters.

The game is being sponsored by the San Diego Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, as a benefit for its scholarship fund.

Tickets are on sale at the Arena and all Arena ticket agencies.
